These patterns are part of a set for the quilt called, New York Wheel, by Ink Lingo, quilting patterns designed by Nancy Haacke

These borders are not repeatable automatically. There are several lengths of the two borders you need to determine your length and lay them in manually. I did this so you do not get any overstitching at the bottom of the border or sash. Use the longest one as much as you can then determine which one you need to finish out the border or sash see layout on following page to see how the corners go together… I think this is actually easier especially on those wonky borders. The difference between the two sets is the distance between each circle.
*Look for the completion of this set in August 2013 Masters Club

I really like the look of mixing some modern quilting with traditional.

It really helps different blocks or features of the quilt show up and pop a little...

The outer border and corner used in this set were included in Sept. 2012 Masters club they are called Cathys 6 Bdr, and Cathys 6 Bdr Crnr Blk
Large view of Labyrinth borders

The Konda Curls border was used in this set but is not included in this months patterns but is on the website under that name
